TIME TO APPROVAL: The median turnaround time (which is the time between initial submission of the protocol and final approval) has steadily decreased over the years. Turnaround time includes the time the protocol was on the researcher's queue to address pre-screening concerns, such as missing documents and post-review stipulations.

REVIEW CATEGORY: The UTHealth Human Research Protection Program has a continuous quality improvement component, which strives to improve the operation of CPHS by providing an efficient level of regulatory review and minimizing regulatory burdens while emphasizing protection of human subjects. In 2020, less than 10% of approved studies were reviewed by full board compared to almost 30% in 2009.

(NHR—Non Human Subjects Research)

NEW APPLICATIONS: The number of initial applications to CPHS markedly increased in 2020, with CPHS receiving 1,397 initial applications for review, about three times the amount received in 2005. Additionally, in 2020 there were nearly 200 new submissions to the Quality Improvement Registry.

ALL SUBMISSIONS: In 2020, CPHS reviewed and processed 11,717 submissions in total. Safety reports include reportable adverse events, DSMB reports, and unanticipated problem reports. The 'Others' category includes miscellaneous submissions.

CPHS FACULTY SURVEY: When researchers receive an outcome letter from CPHS, they are invited to complete the CPHS Faculty Survey. Responses to the survey, including free text responses, are shared with the CPHS Executive Committee each quarter. The responses are helpful in continuous quality improvement of CPHS processes.
